Nor is it necessary that we should admonish our Whig friends of the importance of union for the success of our cause, or rather for that of the cause of our common country. That they are united, and that they are superior to the influence of any sectional jealousies, the result of the approaching contest will, we think, incontestably prove. The strength be brought to bear upon the coming contest. Let no fair and honorable der the control of men whose ruling passion has been selfishness-who have not hesitatment to any set of principles at one time, and ing. to abandon them at another, if by so doing they could secure to themselves the reten-they could secure to themselves the reten-the most extraordinary discovery in the World is the Great Arabian Remedy for Man and Besst. ing obtained the confidence of a majority of H. G. Farrell's Celebrated Arabian Limment.

Let us then, enter with alacrity into the toming contest. Whatever may be our predilections for the distinguished individuals whose election we are desirous to effect, let us bear in mind that we are to contend for principles—for the adoption of a policy that will eventuate in the promotion of the interests of our country, by the developement of its resources, the protection of its industry; and which, while it will render us less dependent than we hitherto have been, upon our great commercial and manufacturing rival, will secure to it a permanent prosperiour great commercial and manufacturing rival, will secure to it a permanent prosperity, free from those fluctuations in business that have been the causes of such wide-spread distress, so much deprivation of employment of our laborers and mechanics, and which will create for the agriculturist a home market for the asle of his productions, and secure for him an ample compensation for his toils.

Considerations like these, should stimulate us to the most active, unremitted, and strenuous exertions, not barely for the election of a President and Vice President, but for members of State Legislatures, on which the choice of United States Senators will devolve, as well as for the election of Represidents.

BALTIMORE, June 21 .- Gov. Jones read a ock, from Fillmore's district, that the nomnation of Gen. Scott will give more joy to Fillmore's heart than his own nomination would have done.

Georgia came in unanimously. South Carolina responded that Scott had endorsed the platform, and South Carolina endorsed Scott.

The response of the Southern States caused great enthusiasm. Indiana promised to respond by acres of ratification meetings. Gov. Johnstou of Pennsylvania said that whilst honoring Fillmore and Webster he felt constrained, with his fellow delegates, to stick to Scott, knowing him to be the only candidate for whom they could produce a positive and glorious majority: larger than that given to Taylor or Harrison. Alabama and Mississippi responded heartly for Scott.

Massachusetts responded, promising the largest majority of any State in the Union. Mr. Botts remarked that this would probably be the last General Convention of the Whig party during the life time of Henry Clay, and therefore offered a resolution expressive of sympathy and regard, and that is memory will never die.

Adopted by acclamation. Convention adjourned at a quarter of 3 p. m., to half past 5, when the nomination for Vice President will be made.

5¼ o'clock, p. m. The Convention was called to order. Mr. Ely, of Ohio, offered a resolution approving of Mr. Fillmore's administration.

Adopted unanimously. Mr. Starkey, of Mississippi, then arose and addressed a warm eulogy on Mr . Webster, as entitled to the gratitude of his country and the hearty thanks of the South. On the second ballot, Mr. Graham received 232 votes, Bates 52, and Pearce 4. Afterwards the vote was declared unani-

H. W. Miller, of North Carolina, arose and thanked the Convention for the honor done his State, and pledged ten thousand majority for the ticket.

Mr. Jessup, of Pennsylvania, offered a resolution that the next Convention be composed of no more members than there are electoral votes, and proposing the appointment of a National Committee, with the name of Vinton as Chairman, and that Louisville be the place of meeting for the next Convention.

Mr. Thomas moved to lay the latter part of the resolution on the table. Carried. A resolution was offered to leave the place of meeting to the National Committee.

Mr. Holmes moved to insert Lexington as the place of meeting.
